Carillonic Bells Given to Wesleyan

Elsie Gibson Hart

Elsie Hart Jones
(In the period dress she wore in the Wesleyan Centennial pageant.)

The first gift to come to Wesleyan through The Wesleyan Foundation, newly formed corporation which will further the interests of the college, is a set of 25 beautiful Carillonic bells, given by J. Freeman Hart, Sr., of Macon in honor of his wife and in memory of his daughter, an alumna of Wesleyan.

Marion H. Liles, Chairman of the Wesleyan Foundation in Macon, announced in November the gift of the bells which have been placed in the Wesleyan tower on College hill in the city of Macon.

THE WESLEYAN ALUMNAE

DEDICATION CEREMONY

The Wesleyan Tower Bells filled the air with their music on the afternoon of November 2 when the formal dedication ceremonies were held in the Wesleyan Conservatory courtyard.

Present on this memorable occasion were the donor of the bells, Mr. Freeman Hart, his son Freeman Hart, Jr., with his wife, the former Bessie Lester, '31, and their daughters, Lester and Elsie Gibson. A large gathering of the friends of the Harts and of Wesleyan, among them being two whom had been close friends of Elsie (Hart) Jones, Mary Bennett (Cox) Dunwoody, '25, and Mrs. Cannon Young of Atlanta, were also present.

Dr. Alexander McCurdy

Dr. Silas Johson, Wesleyan president, presided at the dedication and led the litany service. The Wesleyan Choral Class sang a Hymn of Praise and Benediction by Lutkin.

Guest carillonneur for the ceremonies was Dr. Alexander McCurdy, head of the organ department of Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, who had come to Macon by special invitation. Dr. McCurdy, organ editor of the music magazine, The Etude, and consultant to several churches and musica institutions in their musical programs, studied organ with the late Wallace Sabin and the late Lynnwood Farnam, and at the Bok Tower studied campanology under the bell-master, Anton Brees.

THE NEW STUDENTS OF 1949-50

No longer can we speak of "the new girls" at Wesleyan, for there have been for some years a number of men students working toward the B.M. and B.F.A. degrees. (This year there are eighteen of these.) Among the new students this fall is Thad Grimes, son of Annie Lee (Cross) Grimes, and of the Rev. E. J. Grimes of Columbus.

Perry Peabody of Augusta is daughter, granddaughter, and great granddaughter of alumnae, and her great great grandfather was Dr. Edward H. Myers, former president of Wesleyan. Her father, Elbert Peabody, president of the National Exchange Bank of Augusta, acted the part of Wesleyan's first president in the memorable Centennial pageant, "The Smile of Promise" in 1936.

In the freshman class this year is Mary Ethel Bull of Savannah who is totally blind, but gets about the campus as rapidly as anybody with the aid of a seeing-eye dog, "Tisket."

From California came Joanne Williams, who has so many relatives in Macon that she cannot feel homesick for very long. She is a great great niece of Wesleyan's first Alumnae Trustee from Macon, Dorothy (Blount) Lamar, A.B. 1883. Joanne is related to Henry G. Lamar, chairman of a group of Macon citizens who met in 1835 to talk about founding a "female college" in Macon. She is related also to James Lamar, who was representative in the State Legislature in 1836 and presented the bill for the charter; to Peter Lamar, a member of the State Senate at the time; and to Henry J. Lamar, early trustee of the college.

Changes in Faculty and Staff

Miss Maria Priglmeir Bizzoni, Assistant professor of modern languages, holds the B.A. degree from the University of California; the M.A. from Vassar; has done post graduate work at Grenoble, Munchen, and University of Rome; is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. She is Italian, and speaks French, German, Spanish, and Italian, as well as English. She takes the place of Dr. Jane Esther Wolf, whose death last April brought sadness to the entire college.

Mrs. Joseph E. Boyd, Instructor in piano; B.M., Converse College; experience in teaching at Converse. She replaces Miss Stella Tatlock, who is this year teaching in her home state, Indiana.

Dr. James Carl Cox, Jr., Associate professor and acting head of the department of chemistry; B.D. from West Virginia Wesleyan; M.S. and Ph.D. from the University of Delaware; formerly a fellow of the DuPont Company; during the War with the Engineers' Corps.

Mrs. Robert Francis, Secretary to the President, succeeds Miss Frances Stro-

Miss Lucille B. Gainey, Assistant professor of English and dean of students at the Conservatory; A.B. (magna cum laude), Duke University; M.A. Duke University; Phi Beta Kappa. For two years was in the WAVES during the war, in personnel work. Assisting Miss Gainey is Mrs. Cora Ketchum, who has been for several years hostess at the conservatory. Miss Virginia Herring, formerly dean of students, is doing graduate work this year.

Jeanne Gerner, A.B. 1947, is acting public relations director, during the year's leave of absence of Betty Thompson, her classmate, who is at home in Waycross as the magazine goes to press, recuperating from a recent operation. Jeanne has done graduate work at Emory University since leaving Wesleyan.

Miss Marcia Hathaway, Instructor in piano; A.B., Yale University; M.A., Columbia. Miss Jean Fisher, formerly assistant professor of piano, resigned in the summer because of the illness of her mother.

John F. Hruby, Assistant professor of speech; A.B. in drama from Carnegie Tech; M.A. and M.F.A. Western Reserve University. He has had wide experience in Little Theatre work, and is Director of the Macon Little Theatre. During the War he was a captain in the Air Corps. He succeeds Miss Josephine Weaver, who resigned to be married.

Bertram Kelso, Instructor in voice in place of Miss Elizabeth Varley, who is this year studying at Cleveland Institute. He has studied at the Royal Conservatory of Canada and at Juilliard School of Music in New York.

Miss Clara E. Morris, Lecturer in home economics; B.S., Georgia State College for Women; M.A., George Peabody College. She has taught for the past 31 years at G.S.C.W. Mrs. Eloise Waterhouse, formerly of the home economics department, is now in Louisville, Ky., where her husband is studying at the Baptist Seminary, and is dietitian in a Louisville hospital.

Judith Meridith, A.B. 1949, of Orlando, Florida, is back at Wesleyan this year as assistant to the dean of women on the Rivoli campus. Louise Pate, who has held this position for the past several years, was married on November 5 to George Neil Skene, and makes her home now in Athens, Georgia.

Richard Murphy, Instructor in journalism and English; A.B., Yale; M.A., Columbia University. Mr. Howell Gwin, former Associate professor of journalism, is teaching this year in Mississippi State College, Starkville, Miss.

Dr. Alvin F. Nelson, Assistant professor of Philosophy; A.B. with distinction, University of Nebraska; M.A., same institution; Ph.D., Ohio State University; Phi Beta Kappa.

Mrs. Jeanette Wallace Oliphant, alumna of Wesleyan Conservatory, widow of G. Frank Oliphant who was for many years superintendent of the Georgia Academy for the Blind in Macon, is hostess at the conservatory.

T. M. Purcell, Admissions Counsellor, has faculty status. He holds the A.B. degree from Birmingham-Southern and the M.A. from Emory, and has had years of experience as a school superintendent.

Wilbur H. Rowand, Professor of organ; B.M., Oberlin College; M.M., Cincinnati Conservatory; honorary Doctor of Music, Cincinnati Conservatory; further study at the American Conservatory of Music, Fontainebleau, France. Fellow of the American Guild of Organists; formerly of the faculty of Shorter College.

Mrs. Wilbur H. Rowand, Instructor in physical education at the Conservatory; A.B. and M.A. from George Peabody College. Student of Martha Graham in New York. She was Harriet Garrett, sister of Louise (Garrett) McLeod, A.B. '30, and has taught at Shorter College.

Guy E. Sarvis, Lecturer in sociology; B.A., Drake University; M.A., University of Chicago; Phi Beta Kappa. He has taught at the University of Nanking, at Vanderbilt, and at S.M.U., and has been head of the department of sociology at Ohio Wesleyan since 1935.

F. Bryant Scudder, Instructor in design and illustration; B.F.A., Rhode Island School of Design; graduate study at Fontainebleau, France. He succeeds Miss Josephine Artingstall, who resigned to accept a position in Chicago.

Oscar W. Shapiro, Instructor in biology; A.B. and M.A., Duke University. Dr. Elizabeth Sawyer, who was for the past two years professor of biology, is now teaching in the department of geology at the University of Kentucky.

Honor Student Wins National Prize

For the second consecutive year one of the preliminary $50 prizes offered by the Chicago-Tribune-sponsored annual American Fashion Competition has been won by a member of the senior class of the Conservatory, the award going this year to Martha Sheppard of Sandersville.

Martha, who was first in her high school class, entered Wesleyan on an honor scholarship and has since held both freshman and sophomore honor scholarships at the Conservatory. She was a Junior Marshal at the past Commencement.

Her fashion sketches were among 43 sets accepted out of hundreds of entries made both by students and professionals. Finished garments were created from the prize-winning designs and these were later shown at the Tribune's annual Fashion Show in Chicago where the three final awards were selected by audience vote.

Religious Emphasis Week

Christian Worldmindedness was the theme of Religious Emphasis Week which was observed at Wesleyan October 17 through 19.

The guest speakers were Methodist ministers who have come from abroad to study at the Candler School of Theology of Emory University. They were Charles C. Song of Korea, Tzventan Litov of Bulgaria, and Fridman Rossburg of Norway. The first two are Crusade for Christ scholars. Mr. Rossburg, who has served in the Methodist ministry for 25 years, was influenced in coming to Emory by Bishop Arthur Moore. They had met when Bishop Moore was in Norway at the North European Central Conference.

The Religious Emphasis Week program included chapel talks and informal discussions on the political and economic conditions in their native countries.

president of Wesleyan, was this fall promoted to the position of business manager of the college, succeeding Glover Harrell, who is associated with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company in Macon. She has served the college as secretary to the president during 1941-43, and returned to the campus from the position of secretary of Mulberry Street Methodist Church in 1947.

Tigner E. Thrasher, Executive Director of the Wesleyan Foundation, has faculty status. He is a graduate of Emory University, where he was a member of Chi Phi and of the DVS Honor Society. He comes to Wesleyan from McRae, where he has held a position with the Coca-Cola Company. His wife is Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher, Conservatory 1933; his sister, Annie Lou (Thrasher) Thomas, A.B. 1928.

Sarah Veatch, Assistant professor of speech; A.B. and B.F.A., Wesleyan in '44 and '45; M.A., Columbia University; further study at Dunham School of Dance and Theatre where she was speech assistant to Kate Warren. She succeeds Miss Carolyn Cook, who resigned to be married.

Miss Gladys Wells, Associate professor of Dalcroze Eurythmics; professional training in London and also in Geneva, where she had post graduate courses under Dalcroze himself. She is English, and comes to Wesleyan from the Cleveland Institute of Music.

Gifts to the Historical Collection

Mr. T. Marion Willingham of Macon, husband of the late Frances (Payne) Willingham, 1899, sent to Wesleyan recently some interesting programs and invitations which he and his wife had saved.

There is the invitation of the 1897 commencement, giving the names of the class members, and the program for the entire week of commencement; the invitation to an Alumnae Reception held in "The College Drawing Rooms" on May 26, 1897; the program of the Annual Concert given by the young ladies; the invitation to the graduation piano recital of Miss May Vinson and Miss Viera Griffin; and the program of the Anniversary Meeting of the Missionary Society.

A visitor to the Wesleyan Alumnae Office in September was Mr. Edmund L. Deasy of Mobile, Alabama, who brought a most interesting letter over a century old, written by a Wesleyan girl to her friend, "Eliza." Before leaving Macon,

Mr. Deasy decided to give the letter to the Wesleyan Historical Collection, and it is a valuable addition to our collection.

The signature is just "Molly," and it is therefore impossible to tell what the Wesleyan student's full name was. (If anyone reading this can throw any light on her identity, we shall appreciate your writing us.) The letter is addressed to Miss Eliza Campbell, Gainesville, Georgia, and advises this friend to "treat all young gentlemen very politely!"

Molly tells her friend that she cannot write a long letter as her roommate, Susan Ellison (who was the daughter of the second president of Wesleyan, and who graduated in 1848 and became Mrs. Holmes), "is going to bed, and I am afraid to sit up by myself."

The date of the letter is January 10, 1846.

Alice Culler Cobb's Grandson Dies

Wesleyan alumnae and friends will learn with regret of the death, on September 22, of Dr. Cobb Pilcher of Nashville, Tenn., son of the late Mary (Cobb) Pilcher, '90, and a grandson of Alice Culler Cobb, first lady principal of Wesleyan and later head of the chair of English.

The death of Dr. Pilcher was a tremendous loss to the medical profession. Internationally famous as a brain surgeon, he had been home less than a week from a European tour during which he was principal lecturer before the International Neurological Congress in Paris. He prepared for his distinguished career at Vanderbilt University, served his internship at Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston where he was on the staff of the late Dr. Harvey Cushing, later did special study at the University of Chicago and at Washington University in St. Louis.

His name was on the rolls of the nation's eminent societies and associations of medicine; he had served as associate professor of surgery at Vanderbilt since 1939; he edited the scientific volume, "Surgery of the Nervous System," published in 1946 and had written 80 articles, mostly on neuro-surgery, which appeared in numerous professional journals.

The Nashville press carried long stories and editorials on his death.

Dr. Pilcher was a cousin of Mary (Culler) White, '91 and is survived by his wife, their two daughters, and his brothers, Matt B. Pilcher and Eugene C. Pilcher.

The Wesleyan Foundation

This corporation has as its purpose: "to publicize, promote, and further the interests of Wesleyan College."

To this end, leading men and women in many communities will organize in the interest of this old college. Macon, already well started in its work, will be a model for other groups.

The Board of Trustees Holds Its Fall Meeting

On October 13, 1949, Mr. Leo B. Huckabee of Macon, newly elected chairman of the Board of Trustees to succeed Mr. William D. Anderson, presided at the fall meeting of the Board.

Mr. Huckabee, leading businessman of the city, and lay leader of the Methodist Church, is a past president of the Macon Chamber of Commerce and is head of the Huckabee Motor Company. He is chairman of the Board of Stewards of Mulberry Street Church, and is a trustee of the South Georgia Conference. His father was the Rev. W. A. Huckabee, and studied at Emory College in Oxford during the late 1870's. A most interesting incident in Wesleyan's history is associated with him, and tells the circumstances that surrounded Wesleyan's first substantial gift of money.

Dr. Haygood, president of Emory at the time, was, like most college presidents, hard pressed for funds to operate the college. A Negro workman on the campus came to him on Saturday for his weekly pay of $5.00, and Dr. Haygood did not have it. Because of his own worry, he spoke sharply to the old man. After the Negro had gone the incident lingered in Dr. Haygood's mind, and he determined to get the money and take it to the man. He asked his wife if she had it, but she did not. He went to the students boarding in his home, and one of these, W. A. Huckabee, had $10. Dr. Haygood borrowed this, and walked to the old man's home, some distance away, to give it to him. Returning in the darkness, he composed the sermon on racial understanding, "Our Brother in Black" which was printed and fell into the hands of George I. Seney, a banker of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Seney wrote to Dr. Haygood asking him to come to New York, and gave to him the sum of $125,000 for Emory, and later an additional $125,000 for Wesleyan.

Mr. Leo Huckabee's daughter, Jane (Huckabee) Miller, is a graduate of 1940; his daughter-in-law, Randall (Adams) Huckabee, is a member of the class of 1941.

Robert Ogden Persons

Robert Ogden Persons of Forsyth, president of the Farmers' Bank and of the Forsyth Cotton Mills in this city, was elected a member of the Board of Trustees to succeed his uncle, Judge Ogden Persons, who served on the Board from May, 1945 until this year and who retired because of his health. Robert Ogden Persons is a son of Robert Turner Persons, and a grandson of Mary (Barry) Persons, Wesleyan graduate of the class of 1869, in whose memory her two sons gave generously to Wesleyan, and in whose honor Persons Building on the Rivoli campus, was named.

Leo B. Huckabee

C. Baxter Jones

C. Baxter Jones, prominent Macon attorney and for several years Wesleyan College attorney, was named trustee to succeed Mr. W. D. Anderson, who resigned after 21 years as a member of the Board.

Mr. Jones is a great grandson of Thomas Hardeman, Sr., trustee of Wesleyan from 1842 to 1861. He is a son of Roberta (Hardeman) Jones of the class of 1886, husband of Carolyn (Carter) Jones, A.B. '17, who has held offices in the national Alumnae Association of Wesleyan, and the father of Roberta (Jones) James, who received the A.B. degree with summa cum laude honors in 1943.

Rebecca (Caudill) Ayars, A.B. 1920

The new Alumnae Trustee who succeeded Iola (Wise) Stetson, was present for her first Board meeting on October 13. She came to Macon from her home in Illinois, two days earlier and had tea with the national officers of the Alumnae Association, attended a faculty meeting by special invitation, was entertained for lunch and for an informal coffee party by friends at Wesleyan.

Her very genuine interest in every phase of Wesleyan life, her quick grasp of our situation and our peculiar problems and her very helpful suggestions inspired us all. Living in a university center, she has an unusual insight into the workings of a college. Living in a distant city, she brings the point of view of an outsider. Accustomed in her work

(she is, besides being a wife and mother, the author of four published books) to selecting the important fact from a mass of facts, she can put her finger on the real problems. Loving Wesleyan as she does, she has a sympathetic approach to these.

What Are You Reading?

Your Wesleyan Teachers Suggest Books You Will Enjoy

CARL BENNETT

Associate Professor of English, who joined the Wesleyan faculty in 1944, reviews "An American Dilemma."

Only occasionally does a book appear which, for its brilliant insight into some problem of human thought or some area of human relations, is worthy the attention both of scholars and of the general public. Darwin's Origin of Species was such a book, for as every person who has "surveyed" English literature knows, its impact shattered the equanimity of theological experts and ordinary people alike.

I believe that Gunnar Myrdal's An American Dilemma is that kind of book. Already it has won universal acclaim in the world of scholarship. As a layman untutored in the terminology and methods of the social sciences, I can testify that An American Dilemma deserves to be read thoughtfully, yes, prayerfully, by every American citizen, and particularly by every one of us white Southerners.

For me, reading in this book has been a religious experience.

I say this, for in exploring what Dr. Myrdal wrote about American ideals and the American conscience, tracing their roots in Christianity, English law, Puritanism, and other grounds of our culture, I came to understand more fully not only my fellow Americans, north and south, white and black, but also myself. This book helped me to see more clearly the tangled web of race and population and migration and economics and politics and law and social stratification which winds my people. By my people I mean my kinsmen, my friends, my professional colleagues, my student associates—and my Negro neighbors.

As I contemplate the mess we are in (each day the furious winds of ignorance, fear, hatred sweep upon white and colored together), I am filled with regret that so few Americans will ever read this eminent Swede's statement of our moral dilemma. Unlike Jonah of old, whose divine compulsion to preach to Nineveh was not encouraged by a special invitation from the citizens of that wicked city, Dr. Myrdal came to America at the express commission of the trustees of the Carnegie Corporation, which financed this epoch-making project of assaying our culture in terms of our ideals and practices. And, as we used to say of the preacher at home when he told us of our sins, Dr. Myrdal "speaks to our condition."

Perhaps right now you would like to see An American Dilemma. But first you must be warned against the natural apathy that besets us all in the presence of a very large book, with no pictures. And then, if your library is too poor to own a copy, you may not be tempted to pay Harper and Brothers the $6.00 list price. I will lend my copy to any alumna who is interested.

Please Give Us Your Advice!

Wesleyan is making plans now for a summer school for next summer.

It has been suggested that we offer some courses of special interest to alumnae.

Suppose you were planning to come back for a week's period of "back-to-college" days. What would you like to find in the curriculum? A course in world affairs? In homemaking? In music or art appreciation? In child psychology? What else?

Won't you take the time to write down your thoughts on this matter to Miss Annabel Horn, Wesleyan College, who is in charge of the plans?

We shall greatly appreciate your help!

Alumna Is "Spectroscopist"

This article about one of our outstanding alumnae career women was written by Blythe McKay for the Macon Telegraph, of which she is society editor, appearing on Sept. 29, 1949.

Alumnae of Wesleyan College have made their mark in many fields, in many places. They've had a chance to for a long time, their Alma Mater being the oldest chartered college for women.

But here's a new one. A Wesleyan graduate of the class of 1942 is now an Infra-Red Spectroscopist. And doing well, thank you.

She's Miss Mary Frances Bell, who hails from Lizella and was graduated from Miller High School in Macon and from Wesleyan College, collecting many scholastic and campus honors along the way. Top one at Wesleyan was being elected to Phi Delta Phi, honor society on the campus. Her freshman year at the college she held a Macon Alumnae Club scholarship and all four years she combined work in the Alumnae office with her studies.

She went on from here to graduate work at Vanderbilt University on a scholarship and later was a member of the Vanderbilt faculty. From there she joined the Standard Oil Development Company in 1944, which brings her to her present position, that of an Infra-Red Spectroscopist on the staff of the Esso Research Center.

Miss Bell, one of the women members of the American Chemical Society, reported on her use of infra-red rays as an aid to the analysis of the chemical composition of petroleum at the society's meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., last week. In her talk she explained how the infra-red spectrometer advances scientific knowledge by making possible the complete analysis of high boiling petroleum fractions which had not been possible previously.

Young Miss Bell probably inherits her scientific interest from her father, Prof. W. A. Bell of Lizella, long-time math teacher at Lanier High for Boys, who was retired a couple of years ago. Her mother, the former Bess Warren, was a 1910 graduate of Wesleyan.

An Hour of Joy!

Dr. Silas Johnson of Wesleyan says that he had a wonderful time signing the checks to meet a partial payment to bondholders who sustained a loss during Wesleyan's financial crisis 20 years ago.

Checks totaling more than $100,000 went out to these bondholders, wiping out 30% of Wesleyan's "moral obligation."

President Silas Johnson

Staff Member Gets Degree in Science

Dorothea Jarratt, A.B. 1945, Assistant Library at Wesleyan, received her B.A. in library science at the Emory University Library School this summer, having spent several summers in study at Emory. Dorothea is a magna cum laude graduate of Wesleyan, and is a member and past president of Phi Delta Phi Honor Society. She has charge of the library at Wesleyan Conservatory.

We Suggest As a Wedding Gift

The Maerz Album of Chopin numbers, five twelve-inch records, made last summer by Joseph Maerz of the Wesleyan Conservatory faculty.

The price is $10.00, and the album will be sent to you, express collect, the day your order is received.

The Loyalty Fund and the Second Century Fund

In December, 1947, the Wesleyan Alumnae Council decided to give their full support to the Second Century Fund Campaign and to use their Loyalty Fund gifts for the next two years (with the exception of certain designated scholarship funds) for the endowment campaign. Alumnae were asked to pledge the amount they felt they could give during the next two years if they would. Some alumnae preferred to give annually, as usual, and did so.

During each issue of the alumnae magazine following that Council meeting names of alumnae contributors were given by classes. Payments on pledges were not indicated, the total amount of the pledge being credited to the class total.

Alumnae whose husbands contributed for the family were listed with their classes.

The final list of contributors is given below.

The star at the left of a name indicates that this is an additional gift to the Loyalty Fund.

* * * * *

With September 1, 1949, the Alumnae Loyalty Fund began a new fiscal year. Already a number of alumnae have sent in their contributions, which will be listed in the next alumnae magazine and counted on the 1949-50 Alumnae Loyalty Fund.

Clubs

Dessa (Hays) Asher
... New President, Atlanta Club

ATLANTA

The Atlanta Alumnae Club sent a check for $500 in August to Wesleyan College to be used as the Atlanta Wesleyan Scholarship Fund.

Dessa (Hays) Asher was named president of the Atlanta Club at a meeting on October 22 at the Druid Hills Club, succeeded Frances (Wikle) Whitaker, who had resigned because she was moving to Florida.

Group II gave a party at the Whitaker home on September 7 honoring the Atlanta girls who expected to enter the freshman class at Wesleyan. The group chairman, May Boyd (Clarke) Harber was hostess and was assisted by Dessa, Florence (Watkins) Beckham, Marilu (Beckham) Wing and Jessie (Hollingsworth) Walton.

Group IV had a summer meeting at the home of Rachel (Davidson) Strickland in Lithonia and heard Kathleen Mackay, '28, speak on "Medical Illustration, Past and Present."

Kathleen, who is medical illustrator for the Winship Clinic at Emory University hospital, traced the history of medical illustrating and showed some of her own drawings of a recent heart surgery. She spoke of the late Max Brodel, under whom she studied after her graduation from Wesleyan Conservatory, saying that he revolutionized medical illustration of the present century. She compared his work to that of Leonardo da Vinci, earliest and greatest of medical illustrators.

Before coming to Emory hospital in 1939, Kathleen had been at Mayor Clinic. She has made a distinguished career for herself in an exacting and highly specialized field.

Mabel (Campbell) Gibson introduced the speaker. Assisting Rachel in serving refreshments were Sadie (Almand) Tucker and Elizabeth (Davidson) Gentry. Rachel's home was decorated in lavender gladioli and gardenias to carry out the colors of her class.

COLUMBUS

Anna (Quillian) Janes, president, entertained the executive board of the Columbus Alumnae Club at an informal party at her home on the morning of August 24.

At that time she announced the following committee chairmen: Ways and Means, Sarah (Chappell) Carter; record book, Flora McDonald; scholarship, Elizabeth Rogers; Readers Digest, Letty (Cooper) Noble; membership, Jeanette (Rahn) Cary; flowers, Emmie (Leonard) Martin and Annie (Daniel) Brown; telephone, Frances (Holland) Pringle.

Group chairmen named were: Elizabeth (Joyner) Rainey, Bessie Sue (Taylor) Gaines, Ina (Dudley) Humes, Mary Sue Butler, Weeta (Watts) Matthews; and Helen (Lovein) Jackson.

Committee plans for the year and a tentative program were outlined. Three quarterly program teas in Wesleyan Alumnae homes were decided upon, the first to feature "An Hour With Chopin," piano recordings by Professor Maerz, with Elizabeth (Fort) Jenkins presenting the program notes. At the mid-winter meeting Rebekah (Oliphant) Anthony of Macon, former member of the Columbus Club, will give a book review.

MACON

The Macon Alumnae Club, under the able leadership of Roberta (Jones) Gardner, president, is already (as the magazine goes to press) hard at work on plans for its second annual Bazaar to be held at the Conservatory gymnasium on November 11.

In October Roberta had a meeting of the officers and group leaders of the club at her home on Forsyth Road, and every single one of the officers and group leaders were present, besides a few extra alumnae who had agreed to help with special jobs! Four new group leaders were introduced: Florence (Howard) Dominigos, Group II, succeeding Sara (Flowers) Jennings; Louise (Evans) Jones, Group III, succeeding Emma (Drew) Clay; Geraldine Jackson, Group IV, succeeding Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell; and Mae (Daley) Wayne, Group VI, succeeding Louise Pate.

During October, Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth entertained the members of her group at her home at the Massee Apartments to plan for the Bazaar, and Mae (Daley) Wayne had the regular meeting of the Junior Group at Wesleyan Conservatory, with Eunice Thomson, Alumnae Director, as speaker on "The Work of the Alumnae Association."

Mildred (Goodrum) Heyward, vice-president in charge of benefits, is a live wire, and her numerous activities center around two institutions, her Alma Mater and her church, St. Paul's Episcopal. Planning groups have been meeting all summer in the interest of the bazaar, and with the opening of school actual work began.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Dr. Leon P. Smith, Jr., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences of the University of Maryland, spoke to the Wesleyan Club of Washington, D. C., at their September 24 meeting held at the Burlington Hotel. Dr. Smith was well remembered by the 25 alumnae attending as the son of Wesleyan's beloved Dr. Leon Smith who until his death was head of the chemistry department and vice-president of the college.

Odille Dasher (Mrs. R. H.) Phelps, president, presided. Leona Letson Wiley, who was assistant to Dr. Smith at Wesleyan, was hostess for the day.

Also seated at the head table were Mrs. James W. Beddie, who as Miss Floy Kline was on the Wesleyan staff as a member of the English department and Mrs. W. W. Cobey, Jr., the former Mary Gray Munroe, whose husband is also a member of the faculty of the University of Maryland.

Vivian (Majors) Bird was welcomed as a new member. Her husband is Major Bird of the U. S. Army Air Corps.

An Alumnae Organizes a Children's Theatre in Her Home Town

Something new for a town of 8,000—a theatre that presents plays expressly for children—made its appearance in Statesboro recently through the efforts of a Wesleyan alumna, Alfred Merle (Dorman) Sauve, A.B. 1940, B.F.A. 1941.

President of the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club, Alfred Merle was responsible for organizing the Children's Theatre, which gave its first play, "Jack and the Beanstalk" on October 6 to a full house at both matinee and evening performances, and already there is talk of taking it on the road to nearby towns. Merle was general director of the production, and Libba (Cook) Smith, '49, took the part of the cloud fairy and did the choreography for the cloud dance. The audiences, both young and older people, were delighted at the charming portrayal of Jack's adventures with the Giant, and with the beauty of costumes and stage settings.

The Junior Woman's Club, an organization only in its third year, has already completed landscaping and beautifying the Recreation Center in Statesboro, planting 400 azaleas, jasmins and numerous pine trees.

CLASS NOTES

Alice (Farnum) Baldwin lives at the New Albany Hotel in Albany, Ga., a sweet, quaint little lady. Mary Brown (Malone) Rogers, president of Albany Wesleyan Club, says, "Her great-granddaughter, Meta Young Shakleford, is one of my friends."

1885

The class of 1885 will be grieved to learn of the death of Harriet Elizabeth (Mallory) Ward on May 30. This information was sent in by her granddaughter, Betty Roper, of the class of 1947.

1886

Anne (Allen) Johnston writes that she is delighted to be back home in Tampa, Fla. She suffered an injury during the summer in Franklinton, N. C., but is improving.

Sympathy is extended to Annie May (Mallory) Andrews in the death of her husband, William H. Andrews, in Macon on July 15. He was sales manager for the B. F. Merritt Coal Company and a member of Christ Episcopal Church. Survivors include their two sons, W. H. Andrews, Jr., Miami, Fla., and H. S. Andrews, Great Barrington, Mass.

Emma Smith is making a remarkable recovery after an operation for cataracts this summer.

The class of 1887 regret to learn of the death of Mamie (Corley) Farley of Miami in July. She was the widow of William B. Farley, Florida attorney, and is survived by two sons, William B., Jr., and Robert C. (who is married to Margaret MacDonnell, '28), two daughters, Dorothy and Charlotte, and two granddaughters. Charlotte writes: "Mother so enjoyed The Wesleyan Alumnae, reading and rereading each issue. Though seriously ill for several years past, she remained active until the last day of her life."

Sympathy is extended to Anna (Merritt) Munro in the death of her husband, Judge George Pierce Munro of Columbus in a Macon hospital after an illness of several months. Anna has a son, Dr. P. M. Munro, Lynchburg, Va., and three daughters, one of whom is a Wesleyan alumna, Marian Page (Munro) Merritt, Houston, Texas.

Sallie B. (Comer) Lathrop writes of a treasured silver napkin ring: "Minnie (Bass) Burden sent me the ring a few months before her death. She had found the ring, marked 'Sallie B. 1888', when she was going through a trunk filled with belongings of her mother, Mrs. W. C. Bass. I had carelessly left it at Wesleyan.

How I value this reminder of happy days when the world was younger and life not so hectic! I loved President and Mrs. Bass and liked to remember him at the head of the table, Mrs. Bass at his right, and myself privileged to sit next to her. I have willed this memento to my first great-grandchild, Eugenea Blount Scott."

Mamie (Haygood) Ardis in a recent letter to her Alpha Delta Pi sisters and friends in Macon writes most interestingly of her Wesleyan memories, recalling many of her teachers by name and telling of the thrill when she won the Adelphean medal in voice. She mentions how the sudden death of their beloved Dr. Cosby Smith brought such sadness to all the students.

Annie (Cannon) Varn is at home in Palmetto, Fla., after spending the summer in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

1890

Lila May Chapman's valuable collection of Early American glass was the subject of an article, "Looking Through the Glass," which appeared in the June issue of Hobbies, a magazine for collectors. The writer describes a hobby which began only eight years ago when Lila May started out to secure half a dozen goblets of one kind, but which grew until she not only had acquired 220 different types of rare old goblets, but hundreds of other items as well. When she retired from her position as librarian in the Birmingham Public Library, 21 barrels were needed to move her treasures from Alabama to Macon!

Pearl (Lester) Toole and her husband, C. Julian Toole, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at an open house at their home in Macon in September. Receiving with them were their two sons, Julian, Jr., and Virgil Jennings Toole and their five grandchildren.

Edith (Pierce) Alfriend writes that she lives a quiet and happy life in Sparta, "as the mother of six children who are a joy and blessing to me. Four are living here in Sparta, one son is with the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, Tenn., and a daughter and their three children are with her husband in Munich, Germany."

News has been received of the death of Mattie (Moore) Northcutt in Montgomery, Ala., on February 26, the sad news having come from her husband, the Rev. J. E. Northcutt, retired Methodist minister, to whom sympathy is extended. They were active members of the Dexter Avenue Methodist Church in Montgomery, a pastorate which he had served before his retirement. The church bulletin carried a memorial to Mattie in which acknowledgment was made of her "gracious spiritual influence in this congregation for 25 years," and of the love which she inspired among both children and adults because of her gentleness and radiant Christian character. Mr. Northcutt writing to the Alumnae office said: "For nearly 52 years we had lived happily together; in all those years she reflected the spirit and culture of your great institution which she loved with an ardent affection. Her last contribution to any cause except her church was to Wesleyan."

The sad news of the death of Fannie (Picard) Stern has been received, her death having occurred in October in New York City after an extended illness. She had lived in Macon for many years, but for the past two years she and her husband had made their home in New York. Sympathy is extended to her survivors who include her husband, their only son, Richard Picard Stern of Macon, and a granddaughter, Antonia Stern.

Mary Elizabeth (Wooten) Miller has been an invalid for eighteen years. Her husband, sending her Loyalty Fund contribution to her Alma Mater, writes that she has a day and night nurse with her. They make their home in Buena Vista, Ga.

Viola (Ross) Napier has a new grandchild born July 30 in Atlanta to her daughter, Viola, who is the wife of Dr. Fred Murphy.

1903

Camille (Lamar) Roberts' son, Warren, Jr., spent last year at Princeton University working on his Ph.D. degree. His thesis has been completed and accepted and he has resumed his teaching at Tulane University.

1904

Elise (Armor) Willis sends in her contribution to the Loyalty Fund and writes: "We have about 18 Wesleyan alumnae in Greene county; among them are Mary (Copelan) Evans, '05, and Sara L. (Thornton) Jackson, '08, but I believe that I am the oldest. My husband, C. C. Willis, who has been superintendent of the Greensboro School, retired in September. He has had many fine Wesleyan teachers and says that Wesleyan trains her students in scholarship, common sense, and the art of getting along with people to a higher degree than most other colleges do!"

Gladys (Tilley) Chambers has returned to her home in Webster Grove, Missouri, after making a trip around the world.

Annabel Horn entertained a few Wesleyan friends at a tea honoring her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Raiford Horn, on her 97th birthday, September 7, at the Wesleyan Tea Room. Blythe McKay, '28 Macon Telegraph society editor, wrote a charming article about Mrs. Horn on that occasion. When the news photographer started to take her picture Mrs. Horn smiled and said: "You can come back again when I am a hundred!" Annabel and her mother share an apartment on the Rivoli campus where her mother spends much time reading, having recently read "Gone With the Wind."

1907

Sara (Branham) Matthews stopped in Macon for a brief visit with Willie (Ermingier) Mallary last summer when she was on a field trip for the government, doing special work in South Georgia.

Willie and her husband had a delightful trip out to Houston, Tex., to see their daughter Caroline (Mallary) Ivy. Willie stayed on awhile to help Caroline get settled in a new home, a wide low ranch type house which she had just built.

Odille (King) Dasher was in Boston this summer for a two weeks' stay with her son, Ben, Jr., his wife and their three attractive children, Ben III, 6, Anne, 4, and Preston Brooks, 2. Ben Jr., has an assistant professorship at M.I.T. and is studying toward his doctorate in electrical engineering.

Caro (Twitty) Martin has a new grandbaby, her third. The little girl is the daughter of Elizabeth (Martin) Jennings, '42, and has her mother's name which is already shortened to Betsy.

1908

Alice (Burden) Domingos is delighted that her son Richard, and his bride, the former Mary Ann Nunn, '46, are living in Macon not far from her. Their wedding in Nashville drew a large number of Wesleyan folk together. Richard's brother, Roy, was best man, and his sisters were attendants, Ann Maria as maid of honor, Alice as bridesmaid. His cousin, Angus Domingos, '48, was soloist and Robert Bowen, son of Lottie (Felder) Bowen, '18, was an usher.

1909

Alberta (Gray) Cason flew to Anchorage, Alaska to see her daughter, Billie (Cason) Matthews during the summer. She writes: "The prettiest scenery in the world must be in Alaska. We had an eight-day cruise on the Pacific and Bering Sea to one of the Aleutian Islands and another trip to Fairbanks. On clear days we could see Mt. McKinley, 185 miles away. I especially liked the summer because there was no night. I could really write volumes about my trip, but of course the best part of it was being with my two grandchildren."

1910

Sympathy is extended to Hazel (Willis) Birch and to Louise (Willis) Cater, '14 in the death of their brother, W. Emmett Willis, on September 20 at his home in Walden, Ga. Mr. Willis, a pecan merchant and farmer, had lived in Walden all his life. He was a member of the Liberty Methodist Church, of the Rutland Lodge of Masons and a charter member of the Macon Lions Club.

Kathleen (McRae) Murphree's daughter, Catharine Elizabeth, is to be married this fall to Francis Bolton Elwell, Jr., of New York and Indian Neck, Branford, Conn.

Sympathy is extended to Irma (Moore) Knox in the death of her husband, Judge J. Gordon Knox of the Brunswick Judicial Circuit, in September in an Atlanta hospital following a brief illness. Judge Knox, who had practiced law in Hazlehurst for more than 30 years, was a law graduate of the University of Georgia. He was a native of Cherokee County and a graduate of Summerville high school. Their two children are J. Gordon Knox, a Hazlehurst attorney, and a daughter, Mrs. Wallace Walker.

Theodora (Atkinson) Cobb and her husband, the Rev. John B. Cobb, are in Georgia on a brief furlough from the Methodist Mission Field in Japan.

1915

Willie Mae Little and her sisters enjoyed a four-day tour of Cuba during the summer.

1916

Belle (Ross) Valentine's son, Dr. Henry Valentine, Jr., will be Assistant Resident Physician in gynecology and obstetrics at Bellevue Hospital in New York next year.

1917

Kitty (Cater) Jones' youngest son, Frank, Mercer University law student, is editor of the Law Review, publication of Mercer's Walter F. George School of Law.

Patsy Huff has a position in the library at Maxwell Field near Montgomery, Ala.

The Class of 1917 will be grieved to learn of the death of Louise (McGehee) Mahone, on October 11, in Arlington, Va., after a long illness. Louise, (sister-in-law of Edna (Mahone) Parker, '26) and her husband, Carlton Mahone lived in Macon for several years before moving to Washington, D. C., a few years ago.

Ethleen (Pafford) Martz's lovely young daughter, LaBlanche, is a professional singer and does quite a bit of radio and television work in New York. She was on the CBS network Hit Parade program this summer. Her professional name is Peggy Anne Ellis. Wesleyan students of the early thirties will remember when she put on a program at student assembly one day when she was about five years old. Her aunt, Lillian (Pafford) Tate, was a student at Wesleyan then. News of LaBlanche came through her aunt, Anne Pafford of the class of 1922, who sent a picture of her which appeared in the magazine "Pic" last October.

Sympathy is extended to Gray (Goodwin) Worsham in the death of her husband, Lee S. Worsham, on September 14, and to their daughter, Martha Worsham, '47. Mr. Worsham had been in failing health for several years and had retired from the Ross Lumber Company in Macon of which he was a member.

Maurine (Gostin) Mielenz' son, Cadet Lloyd E. Milenz, Jr., has been appointed a sergeant in the U. S. Corps of Cadets at West Point where he is a senior.

Sympathy is extended to Louise (Evans) Jones in the death of her mother, Mrs. Rufus W. Evans, at her home in Macon on August 4 after a long illness, and to Mrs. Evans' sister, Jessie (Rhodes) Clark, '95. Mrs. Evans had lived in Macon all of her life and was a member of the Vineville Methodist Church. Other survivors include a son, Rufus W. Evans, of Macon; a brother, C. B. Rhodes of Atlanta; four grandchildren, among them Lucia (Evans) Rheinfrank, '43, Nonie Evans, who was on the staff at Wesleyan in '45, and Jean (Evans) Weaver, '49.

Rosaline (Jenkins) Gilmore and her husband had a delightful summer. They made a trip to New York in celebration of their Silver Anniversary, and had the time of their lives. They had a week at Lake Junaluska in July and were at Camp Glisson near Dahlenega most of the rest of the summer. Little Rosaline left her position in Cleveland, Tennessee to begin on her Master's degree at Emory in religious education this fall. She has received a scholarship from the university.

Irene (Brinson) Munro spends every summer at Waquoit Bay in Massachusetts where her young son is sailing most of the time. Irene teaches history at Huntingdon College in Montgomery, Ala.

Classmates of Minnie Goodwyn (Artope) Kerr will learn with sadness of her death on September 20 after a long illness. Although she was living in Augusta at the time of her death, she had spent most of her life in her native city, Macon. Sympathy is extended to her survivors who are her husband, Bernard Kerr, and a sister, Leila (Artope) Gantt, '13.

Parah Clark writes: "Your letter traveled from Kissimmee, Fla., to Oklahoma, to New Mexico, to Texas. I visited various relatives in the West this past summer, the first vacation I have had from summer school in several years." Parah received her M.A. from Florida State University in 1948 and teaches a third grade in the Kissimmee schools where her sister Sarah, '23, also teaches.

Susie (Colson) McRae lives in Savannah, where her husband is vice-president of the Citizens and Southern Bank.

Emma Kate Mansfield is now executive secretary of Trinity Episcopal Church in Columbus, Ga.

1922

Sympathy is extended to Grace (Allen) Hailey in the death of her husband, Dr. Isham B. Hailey of Hartwell on July 31. He was a well known druggist and citizen. Grace's classmates will recall that they were married a few hours before she received her diploma at Wesleyan.

Henrietta Collings, who supervises music in the Macon public schools, has been elected president of the In-and-About-Macon Musicians Club.

Julia (Lennard) Harvill is principal accountant at Alto Medical Center, Alto, Ga.

Sympathy is extended to Virginia (Gunn) Palmer in the death of her husband, Captain W. R. M. Palmer, retired army officer, in Tampa, Florida, in June after a long illness.

Leona (Letson) Wiley and Jeffie (Bennett) Smith, '22, spent a pleasant afternoon together talking over their college days when Jeffie was in Washington, D. C., during the summer on a visit to her sister, Mary (Bennett) Wilson, '26. Leona's three fine sons were away at camp so Jeffie missed seeing them, but met Leona's husband, Frank, who holds an important post with the Food and Drug Administration in Washington. Frank devotes much of his leisure to Boy Scout work. He ended his summer's vacation with a five-day hike with the Scouts on which they covered 60 miles on the Appalachian Trail.

Alma (Caudill) Smith sends in her contribution to the Loyalty Fund and writes: "We hope to send our daughter to Wesleyan when she is ready for college—she is five now and has just started to school! I've almost let myself get out of touch with all the girls I once corresponded with, but it's worth a lot to get the Alumnae magazine."

Sympathy is extended to Kathleen (Bardwell) Noble, 401 University Park, Rochester, N. Y., in the death of her mother this summer. The Bardwells were visiting Kathleen, and were preparing to return to Cuba when Mrs. Bardwell was stricken and died suddenly.

Elizabeth (Garrett) Page has resigned as a member of the staff of the Dublin, Georgia Courier-Herald after 20 years as society editor of the paper.

From Mary Miller, to whom we had written asking her to do a story about the reunion of '24 for the August magazine, came this note: "Your letter came while I was in Chicago attending a meeting. The day I returned home my father had a heart attack and was very ill for several weeks. He died July 18, and in looking over some letters on my desk I find that yours has not been answered. I hope you got someone else to write the account. I enjoyed being at the reunion and all who were there did, too; I want the others to hear about it. I am leaving with a party for Europe on Monday, July 25."

Lucia (Sammons) Green is making quite a name for herself among Southern garden club circles both as an authority on flower arrangement and as a judge of flower shows. She studied art at Wesleyan under Miss Rosetta Rivers and although she still paints flower subjects as time permits, she does most of her work now with real blossoms and foliage. Lucia lives in Orangeburg, S. C., and has two children, Lally (really Lucia III), and Jimmy III, both of whom are in college.

Margaret (Vincent) Smith's husband, Rear Admiral Allen E. Smith, USN, spent the summer commanding Task Force 61, the Midshipmen's Cruise of 1949. Margaret has been on a visit with her mother, Lula (Fulghum) Vincent of Macon.

Margaret Richards writes: "Inspired by the afterglow of our twenty-fifth class anniversary and habitual Christmas greeting cards underlining 'Please come to see us,' five of us packed twelve bags in July and boarded the train for Lyons, New York, for a wonderful and memorable visit to the Lewis Sibleys. (Hattie Branch, she was—and still is!) Martha Few, Frances Wootten, Margaret Richards, Roline (Trimble Boyle) and daughter, Mary, comprised the invading Southerners. The startled Sibleys stated they might steel themselves into accepting the five guests, but the 12 suitcases were too much even for their newly acquired Yankee ingenuity. (We carried everything we possessed and were prepared for all four seasons in ten days!)

"On our very first morning, the minister unwittingly threw us into the giggly stage, by choosing as his text 'My cup runneth over.' Several of Hattie's neighbors came up to her afterwards saying, 'Your house is running over too, isn't it?' But, before the ten pleasant, happy days were over, we all agreed that our hearts were running over in gratitude for fine friendships which had lasted over the years, and for the rich memories which Wesleyan had bestowed upon us.

"The Sibleys are experienced and accomplished entertainers, and every moment was filled to the brim. With two Buick Roadmasters at our disposal we visited lovely scenic spots in the beautiful Finger Lake Section of New York; we spent the night at Niagara Falls, dashed around the entire length of Lake Ontario in order to have a boat ride up the St. Lawrence River; we had 'cook-outs' and picnics galore, and grand food the whole time, whether it was eaten indoors or out. (Do ask us about the cabbage sandwiches sometimes!) We were entertained at a luncheon in Rochester by Kathleen (Bardwell) Noble, and that was one day we just couldn't talk fast enough.

"We reluctantly left the Sibleys, with Lewis breathing a sigh of relief, and Hattie promising herself that she would be very cautious in signing her Christmas cards in the hereafter. In New York City, Roline's husband Jack took charge of the five hags and twelve bags and showed us a grand time in the big city. We had dinner one night with Miss Carpenter (former teacher of voice) who braved the record breaking July heat to visit with us and hear all the Wesleyan news. She looks fine and is still keenly interested in everything pertaining to the 'oldest and best'."

Virginia (Frank) Neff's husband is sales manager of the Arco Paint Company, and they live in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. They have one son, now ten years old.

Lucie (Heard) Lanham writes: "It has been a long time since I've seen any of you girls. Saw Mary (Allman) Alford in June. I keep busy with a teen-age daughter and son." Lucie lives in Charleston, S. C.

Annie Laurence (Riley) Sawyer's husband, the Rev. Swoll Sawyer, was transferred from Cochran to Marshallville at the last meeting of the South Georgia Conference. The Sawyers have two daughters, Emily and Louise, who are planning to come to Wesleyan.

Rachel (Davidson) Strickland writes: "I did enjoy the Wesleyan Alumnae magazine for August and I regret having to disappoint Ethel (Rosenberg) Bass in her claim to the 'first grandchild in the Class of '26', but I have a precious little granddaughter who will be three years old in November, a future Wesleyanne I hope. Group IV of the Atlanta Wesleyan Club met with me at my home here in Lithonia last June and there were 24 present, many of whom I had not seen in 20 years, I'm sure. We had such a good time that I am looking forward to having them meet with me again next year. I am very proud of my niece, Betty Davidson, who is a Wesleyan Senior and president of the Athletic Association. Nell Ann Summers of Conyers who is a freshman this year, is the daughter of one of my friends."

Helen (Dover) Turner and Marie (Dover) Carter's father, Dr. Jesse C. Dover of Clayton, has been awarded a certificate of distinction by the Medical Association of Georgia in recognition of his practice of medicine for 50 years during which time he has "through his proficient and untiring ministry of the science of healing done honor to his God, his community, his profession and himself."

Sara Jenkins writes in August: "I've sold another book—a story of moving week in a parsonage and the effect of the move on the preacher's family. Crowell plans to bring it out in the spring. I called it 'Hannah Carried the Lamp,' but that may not be the title in final form. Dade County has granted me sabbatical leave and I go to Mexico on September 9 to spend a year. I was born there, you know, and my first real stop will be Guadalajara where that event took place. I'm still hoping to make the class reunion next year!"

Sympathy is extended to Grace (Thomas) O'Beirne in the tragic death of her eighteen-year-old daughter, Anne, at Neuchatel, Switzerland, on June 9, from an injury received when she dived into shallow water in a nearby lake. Anne was a champion diver, having won the junior AAU title for low board diving and many other awards while her parents were living in Washington, D. C. She was studying French at a school in the Swiss town preparatory to entering the Sorbonne in the fall. Her presentation at court in London took place just three weeks before her death. Grace and her husband, Capt. Frank O'Beirne, are living in London where he is assistant Naval Air attache. They have a younger daughter and a son who are in school there. Grace's address is: Mrs. Frank O'Beirne, U. S. Navy No. 100, Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y.

Katherine (Walker) McElheny and her husband and little daughters, Kay, 5½ and Anne, 9, have returned from Venezuela to Dallas, Texas, having been transferred back to the states by the Atlantic Refining Company.

Mary (Michaux) McPherson has four sons, one who is soon to graduate from Georgia Tech, one a freshman at the University of Maryland, one in junior high school, the youngest in the last year of grammar school. Mary has moved from Atlanta to Silver Springs, Md. She writes: "I went to see Mary Louise Collings, '25, in Alexandria, Va., recently. She is just the same and pretty as ever. Marie (New) Fisher is here also. I hope to see her and Mary Lou (Martin) Davis, and many others when I go to the Washington Alumnae Club. Fairfid (Monsalvatge) Caudle's husband is one of the assistant attorney generals here and their son is a college senior."

Ruth (Ricketson) Whipple's husband is dean at Shurtleff College in Alton, Illinois, and Bob Jr., has just completed his freshman year there. Bob, Jr., spent the summer at Grene Lake, Wisconsin, at the Northern Baptist Assembly.

Virginia (Stubbs) Leps is state president of the Florida Classroom Teachers. She presided at the opening session of a conference of 293 teachers which was held at the Seminole Hotel in Jacksonville in August. Isabel Richter, '26, sent a clipping telling of the event and wrote: "Virginia did an excellent job as a district representative of Classroom Teachers last year, so was selected for the state job this year."

Katherine (Armstrong) Bivins' card inviting her classmates to a party at Commencement brought so many responses we had to save some for this issue of the magazine! In addition to those who attended the reunion, the following returned cards of regret:

Mabel Aldred, who was a day student for a short time and finished her work at Winthrop, taught in S. C., for three years, nursed an invalid mother for two years, and now is teaching in Summerville, Ga.;

Leah Avrunin, who is working now in Washington, D. C.;

Edith (Belcher) Kelly of Hammond, Indiana, mother of several children, although she did not say how many;

Nancy (Blount) Coney, whose card came from Warner Robins, Ga.;

Lula (Boswell) Hailey, now living in Athens after two years in Miami, who has two daughters, Jo, 17, and Ann, 12, and one son, Frank, 10;

Marie (Boyd) Wiggins, of Thomson who has a married son;

Elizabeth (Bragg) Sturdivant, who wrote from Westminster, Maryland, where her husband is head of the biology department at Western Maryland College, and whose daughter is now fourteen, "tall and blonde and not a thing like her mother!";

Beatrice (Brown) Young who has changed her name since we last heard from her is now Mrs. Ralph J. Young, 5476 Collier Ave., San Diego, Calif.;

Martha (Brown) Lokey, Thomson, Ga., who could not come because of her children's recitals;

is planning to come to Wesleyan;

Dolores (Jackson) Davis, who keeps busy in Boston, Ga., with her two daughters, the younger not two years old;

Marjorie (Jacob) Caudill whose husband, the Rev. Herbert Caudill, returned to his Alma Mater, Mercer University, from his mission charge in Cuba at the summer commencement to make the baccalaureate address and to receive the honorary Doctor of Divinity degree.

A front-page write-up in the Macon paper recently tells of how he earned two-thirds of his expenses at college serving at tables in the dormitory and acting as janitor, later supplementing this by his earnings as pastor of nearby churches. He received the A.B. in 1926, and the M.A. the following year, was ordained a Baptist minister in March, 1926, and later studied at Southwestern Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas. He went to Cuba as a missionary in 1929, returning in 1930 and marrying Marjorie Jacob, who received her A.B. with summa cum laude honors at Wesleyan in 1928, and her B.M. in 1929. Together they have spent the years since 1930 in Cuba, Mr. Caudill serving some English and some Spanish speaking churches, serving as head of the Baptist Serimantry in Havana, and since March, 1947, acting as superintendent of missions in Cuba, with 64 Baptist churches under his supervision. They have three children, the oldest daughter to come to the states in another year to college;

Estelle (Jessup) Dillard of Columbus, who wrote that she could not get to the party for '28, but did come for Commencement, saying that she would get her 19-year-old son to chaperone her;

Mary Lou (Reynolds) Arnold of Warrenton, who wrote that she manages a hardware store;

Ethel (Rogers) Beaver, who took some work with the class of '28 when she was secretary to Wesleyan's president, and who is now at Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, where her husband is superintendent;

Judye Seamon, who sent her regrets from her home in Cordele, Ga.;

Mavis (Short) Binns, who moved from Lexington, N. C., to Sarasota, Fla., on June 6, and who said she hoped to get back to Wesleyan when her eight-year-old Bonnie came as a student;

Martha (Slade) Hurst, who has lived in Indianapolis, Indiana for 18 years, and who has two sons, Needham, 16, and Bill, 11;

Evelyn (Sodders) Arnold of Route 3, Sabina, Ohio, whose daughter, Jo Anne, completed her sophomore year at Wesleyan Conservatory in June, and who has another daughter and two sons;

Dorothy (Spearman) Chambers, Madison, who had hoped to come for the reunion but could not get here;

Mildred Tarver, who has been teaching in Blakely the last eight of her nineteen years of teaching;

Marjorie (Taylor) Reid, who wrote about Christmas time last year from 10 Julien Road, Coulsdon, Surrey, England, has two children of her own, and is mothering the two children of her only sister who died recently;

Martha Taylor, Macon, who sent her regrets that she could not be with the class for their party;

Margaret (Walthall) Gerson of Atlanta, who could not be present because of the wedding of her cousin, Mary (McCowen) Parkerson, came at the same time;

Adele (Warnock) Flournoy, Macon, whose three children are a college age daughter, a son ready for college, and a young grammar school age son;

Martha (Watts) Harris, who wrote from New Orleans that she could not be with the class because she was with her husband who was in a hospital there;

Florimel (Williams) Herndon, Durham, N. C., who wrote that her family of a husband and four daughters (Yvonne and Joyce, Carol and Elaine) would be in the midst of commencement activities at the same time at Wesleyan;

Sarah (Willingham) Pierce, Luling, Texas, who is happy as a Baptist minister's wife, and supervisor of the Primary Department of their church;

Frances (Yates) Chewning, Wedowee, Ala., who wrote: "My married daughter has just come home from the hospital after an appendectomy, and has an eight-months-old baby, so you see I cannot come to the reunion";

Harriet (Prater) Kettles and her sister, Betty (Prater) Gilbert, '31, spent a few hours on the campus in September having accompanied Harriet's daughter, Jean, a freshman, to Wesleyan.

Rachel (Mays) Dempsey is working as a librarian in the library of the First Corps, Eighth Army, Special Services, in Kyoto, Japan, having joined her husband, Lt. Col. J. C. Dempsey there in March.

Sympathy is extended to Margery (McEachin) Strozier in the death of her husband, Harry S. Strozier, prominent Macon attorney, on September 8. Recognized throughout Georgia and the Southeast as a brilliant lawyer, Mr. Strozier had practiced law in Macon since 1915. He was a fearless advocate of what he believed to be right and was known as a friend of the common man. He was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Emory University and held a law degree from Mercer University. Among his five brothers who survive is W. Reuben Strozier of Baxley, husband of Ona (Moore) Strozier, '13.

Ming-Hwa (Nyeu) Moy is recovering from an operation which she underwent last spring. She is living in Dayton, Ohio, at 313 Grafton Avenue.

When Ola (Odom) Rawls and her husband build their home on Nottingham Drive in Macon they plan to use three mantels which came from the home of Ola's grandparents near Eatonton which was built in 1820.

Sympathy is extended to Frances (Flanders) Hollis in the death of her husband, Robert Hollis, in September. He was serving his third term as Johnson county school superintendent at the time of his death.

Lottie (Norton) Hawkins is living in Sewickley, Pa. Her husband commutes daily to Pittsburgh where he is associate editor of the Post-Gazette. They and their three boys, Frank, Jr., 8, Bill, 5, and John, 1½, spent their summer vacation with relatives in Macon and Fort Valley and at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Eunice (Partin) Smith is living in Wrightsville where her husband is pastor of the Methodist Church. They have two future Wesleyan daughters, Jacquelyn, 9, and Jeredith, 2. Eunice says that she is enjoying settling down after moving around during the war while her husband was serving as a chaplain in the Army.

Sympathy is extended to Eugenia (Rawls) Seawell in the death of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Eugenia Rawls in Dublin, Ga., on August 18, at the age of 89.

Carolyn (Lawton) Harrell had an article in the October issue of Holland's magazine describing Betty (Dunwody) Sams' home (See Class Notes, 1944).

Virginia (Stanton) Eyler has moved from Savannah to Fort Pierce, Florida, where her husband has been made head of the Latin department in the high school.

Evelyn (Thaxton) Thrasher was guest of honor at a tea which Margaret (Odom) Rader, '37, and Emily (McArthur) Grinolds, '32, gave at Margaret's home in Macon on September 16, soon after Evelyn had moved from McRae to Macon when her husband assumed the executive directorship of the Wesleyan Foundation, Inc.

1934

We have sent out to this class a questionnaire similar to one sent to seven eastern colleges last spring. When all the answers are in we shall have an interesting report to make.

Dorothy (Bryan) May's husband is vice-president of the Garner Insurance Agency in Miami, Fla.

Mary Jean (Chapman) Paris lives in Atlanta. She writes: "I campaigned here last year for the Second Century Fund with Group V under Margaret (Munroe) Thrower, '35, and saw many old Wesleyan friends. Occasionally I see Ruth (Renfro) Williams, '35, and two of my classmates, Ruth (Key) Butler, and Carolyn (Wilson) Ruffo, my old roommate.

Carolyn's twins, Lynn and Bob, were born on February 20, 1946, the day after my only child, Jean, arrived. Carolyn's oldest child, Joe, will be five in December.

Nelle (Edwards) Smith's Story Hour at the Washington Memorial library in Macon draws a large crowd of eager-eyed children every Saturday morning. The program is sponsored by the Junior League.

Marjorie (Hobbs) Douglas lives in Chicago at 6032 North Kilbourne Avenue. Her eleven-year-old daughter, Kendall, is in the sixth grade.

The class of 1934 will deeply sympathize with Ruth (Key) Butler of 160 W. Pace's Ferry Rd., Atlanta in the death of her husband W. Monroe Butler, on September 19 this year. Ruth's daughters are: Gay, 16; Carroll, 15; and Marie, 12.

Martha (Lamon) Spangler has recently moved into a new home on Linden Drive in Danville, Va.

Martha (Oattis) Carroll is living in Oslo, Norway, where her husband is economic attache-controller with the ECA Mission to Norway. She writes enthusiastically "We are in love with Norway and the Norwegians. We have a charming house out from the city with everything we need including magnificent views of the mountains, forests and the great Oslo fjord. Our ten-year-old son, Frank, is in a Norwegian school and already speaks the language surprisingly well . . . I, too, am picking up the language and can make myself understood in the shops.

"Recently at a luncheon where the wives of the American Embassy, ECA and other diplomatic corps men were present, I suddenly saw a Wesleyan classmate, Virginia (Dean) Lindeman, whose husband is with the ECA Mission in Denmark . . . of course we had much talk of Wesleyan and the people we knew there.

Evelyn (Taber) Buck lives in Howey-in-the Hills, Fla., where she and her husband are the owner-operators of a gift shop and small restaurant. Their two sons are Brooks, nearly five, and one-year-old Stephen.

Willie (Barton) Jones and Carolyn (Moate) Fleming are teaching at the Georgia State College for Women in Milledgeville; Willie is instructor in business administration and Carolyn is teaching the seventh grade at the Peabody Laboratory School there.

Helen (Pafford) Bukowick lives in Westfield, Mass., where her mother, one of Wesleyan's hostesses, visited her and her husband and two sons, Alvin Pafford and Peter Anthony, during the summer.

June (Hobbs) Spann is living in Memphis and has a little five-year-old daughter, Joan. Her husband, who is with the Prudential Life Insurance Company, completed his law training with honors in Memphis last summer.

Virginia (Scott) Estes recently received her master's degree in education at Auburn. She teaches American history and civics in a junior high school in Columbus. She writes: "As you know Marjorie (Potts) Durden lives here. Columbus has a wonderful Alumnae Club and I am hoping to attend regularly from now on. By the way, I ran into Judy Pomeroy, '41, who is doing graduate work at Auburn."

Eugenia (Anderson) Ramsey and her husband, who is associated with Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, have moved from Charlotte, N. C., to New York.

Betty (Burch) Ridley's husband, Dr. Charles L. Ridley, Jr., of Macon has been elected to the American College of Surgeons.

Iva (Colquitt) Scheible and her husband, Capt. P. G. Scheible, with their son, Gary, five, have returned from a three-year stay in Germany and are now living in Enid, Okla.

Margaret Gaillard is a librarian in the public schools of Miami Beach, Fla.

Edith (Hillman) Gerhardt has been collecting tennis trophies since 1937, winning the women's singles in the Middle Georgia annual tennis tournament for the past several years as she did again this summer when she also won in the mixed doubles. Edith has been a referee at the soccer and basketball tournaments at Wesleyan for the past 10 years. She was tennis champion during her college days. But the game is really a sideline with Edith for she is the mother of two attractive young sons, Al, Jr., three, and Bobby, one.

Macie Lois (Moore) Roberts and her attractive children, Linda and Whatley Roberts, Jr., came down from their home in Philadelphia in July for a visit with her mother, Mrs. E. L. Moore, in Macon and with her husband's mother, Mrs. Lawrence Roberts, in Tampa, Fla.

Virginia (Tullis) Vandergraff and her husband have moved from Birmingham to Dallas, Tex.

Cordele, Georgia schools have a number of Wesleyan alumnae among their teachers: Nena Westbrook, '39; Wilhelmina Thompson, '31; Virginia Rowland, '48; and Marjorie Royal, '30.

1940

Mary (Coolidge) Cissna sends her new address, 1105 Lynnwood Drive, Rolla, Missouri. Her husband is with the U. S. Geological Survey and until July 1 was in Chattanooga, Tenn. He is Photogrammetric Engineer. They have bought a home in Rolla and have a little daughter, Mary Louise, a year old.

Mary (Holbrook) Boswell writes: "Have truly moved in the past 13 years—to Atlanta, Ft. Pierce, Fla., Macon, Danville, Va., Greensboro, N. C., Augusta, Charlottesville, Va., and now back to Atlanta, 4280 Twin Brooks Road, Apt. 1, Brookhaven, Ga., being our present address. My husband is with American Associated Consultants and our four children are Billy, 11, Sissie, 9, Henry, 8, and Betty, 5. Thoroughly enjoy the Alumnae magazine. Saw my roommate, Margery (Ploeger) Green, and her husband and their children, Andy, 9, and Caroline, 3, in Waynesboro last summer."

Marjorie (Potts) Durden writes: "Being a Wesleyan alumna certainly makes moving to a new place in Georgia interesting. The first Sunday in Columbus, Ga., we went to Sunday School at St. Luke Methodist Church and who should be leading the devotional but Virginia (Scott) Estes, '37! The next Sunday I saw Martha (Zachry) Thwaite and Carol (Cabaniss) Gordy. I've had dinner with Sarah Louise (Turner) Butler; and Ina (Dudley) Humes and Frankie (Jones) Duskin have called on me. I've seen the new house Helen (Lovein) Jackson has just built, although I haven't seen her yet. And the Butlers' new home is just about completed. Both are very lovely."

Lucile (Williams) Kunz and her husband are spending some time at Oak Ridge, Tenn., where he is working on his thesis for his Ph.D.

Eloise (Ainsworth) Gray has a daughter, born July 18, who has been named Carol Lyons Gray, the Carol for the baby's great-grandmother on her father's side and the Lyons for her maternal grandmother. The baby will be a fourth generation Wesleyanne, her grandmother being Kate (Lyons) Ainsworth of the class of 1922, and her great-grandmother Mary (Nicholson) Ainsworth, A.B. '91.

Martha (Balkcom) Clark writes: "We're still New Hampshire farmers. I haven't seen any Wesleyannes since I was in Macon in March, but hear regularly from Annie Lillian (Mann) Jauquet who lives in San Antonio and whose husband is in the insurance business, and from Pat (Jarratt) Abkarian, who lives in Mexico City and has a new daughter, Johanna."

Virginia (Clower) Corry, who received her medical degree back in 1944, is now doing psychiatric work at Chapin Memorial Hospital in Providence, Rhode Island.

Lillian (Mann) Jauquet writes that she and Katherine (Hudson) Herrington, '33, are planning to have a coffee and invite all the other Wesleyan alumnae who live in San Antonio to join them. "We thought that later we might plan to meet informally about three times a year if the group wishes to. Who knows, we might have the making of a San Antonio Alumnae Club!"

Eleanor (Shelton) Morrison has a new daughter, Melanie Shelton Morrison, born April 3.

Wesleyan friends will be grieved to learn of the death of Frances Marion (Wilson) Gowen of Ft. Valley in July after a long illness. She was the winner of the scholarship for the essay contest in 1937 when she was a senior in high school, and was graduated from Wesleyan in the class of 1941. After teaching for several years, she married Edward Gowen and they have a little son now two years old. Frances was the only child of her parents.

Mary Stewart (Becking) Smith, who did such a fine job as Tennessee chairman for the Second Century Fund Drive last year, has a new home on Signal Mountain. Her two children, both as 'good as gold' she says, are Karen, four, and Alfred Emery Smith, Jr., nine-months old.

Beverly (Dunn) Madden lives now at 4063 North State St., Jackson, Miss. Her little son, John III, is 2½ years old.

Sympathy is extended to Betty Meriwether (Lewis) Heyer of Columbia, S. C., in the death of her mother, Mrs. R. H. Freeman of Forsyth after an illness of several months.

Nell (Tucker) Popper, who studied at the conservatory in '43, and who worked for several years in the Wesleyan Student Bank and Bookstore, flew from San Francisco to Macon during the summer for a visit to her mother.

Sarah Ann White writes: "The Alumnae Magazine is a treasure, and I read it the minute it comes. Give my love to all at Wesleyan who mean so much to me. My thoughts will be with you this fall."

Billie (Cason) Matthews is living in Anchorage, Alaska, where her husband, a captain in the Air Forces, is stationed at Fort Richardson. They and their two children will return home next July at the end of his two-year assignment.

Betty (Dunwoody) Sams' son was born July 8 and has been named Thomas Alfred, Jr. Betty and her husband live in Rivoli near the Wesleyan campus in a lovely old white painted brick house which has had an interesting history. Long known as the "Jerry Cowles" cottage because it was built by Jerry Cowles who was so prominently associated with Wesleyan's founding, the house had stood on downtown Walnut street for more than 100 years when a mail-order house purchased the property and the building seemed doomed. Betty's father purchased the cottage and had it taken down brick by brick in order that it might be rebuilt exactly as it was originally.

Mary Frances (Robertson) Marlin writes: "You cannot imagine how much pleasure the Alumnae magazine gives me. I practically devour each issue. In spite of this I am afraid that I have been the laziest of chairmen about sending any kind of 'report' on former Wesleyannes, but at long last here are a few items that might help you:

"Alda (Alexander) Harper and her little two-year-old daughter, Mary Elaine, spent the summer in Macon with Alda's parents while her husband, Joe, who holds a permanent Army commission, attended parachute school.

"Martha (Harrison) Middlebrooks, whose marriage to the Rev. Charles Levin Middlebrooks, Jr., took place last November, is living in Athens where her husband is pastor of the Oconee Street Methodist Church.

"Virginia (Sutherland) Davis calls her son, Jay. He was born in April. They live in Columbia, S. C., where her husband is associated with Pacific Mills.

"Elinor (Rees) Veatch visited her sister, Lee (Rees) Buttram, '40, in Chattanooga, Tenn., in July. Lee's husband is a practicing physician and they have two children, a boy and a girl. Elinor's baby boy is a few months old and is named Julian Lamar Veatch, Jr.

"Betty Bruner, who is church secretary in Columbia, S. C., had a wonderful vacation trip to Canada in the summer.

"Dorothy Ann (Pim) Roth came South this summer. From all reports her two little daughters have terrific Yankee accents. Dorothy hopes that they will acquire a little southern drawl eventually.

"Suzanne (Davis) Hardee's time and efforts are spent on her new home; on little Kathleen Davis Hardee (Kathy for short), and on her husband, Bill.

"Frances (Sanders) Richter and Wallace live in a new garage apartment near her parents. Their little daughter, born on Valentine Day is called 'Chris', but her full name is Mary Christine.

"Mary (Smith) Starr and her husband and their little son, Johnny, have moved back to Savannah.

"Kathryn (Spivey) Grindler has a four-months-old son, Richard Alexander. They live in Swainsboro where her husband is connected with the Butane Gas Company.

"As for me, Chick and I have a used furniture store. All our time is spent in buying horrible, worn furniture and trying to make it look as 'good as new.' Which, let me tell you, is quite a job!"

Pat (Slater) Maxwell lives in Salem, Va., and has two little sons.

Dotte (Smith) McMahon writes from Louisville, Ky.: "You don't know how much I enjoy the alumnae magazine, although it always makes me homesick for Wesleyan. I can't wait until DeeDee, our three-year-old daughter, will be entering Wesleyan herself. I guess Innes, Jr., will have to be content with dating Wesleyannes. He'll have a pretty long wait, as he is only nine months old now.

"I ran into Dorothy (Moore) Walters down town one day. Did not know she was here. She has an adorable little boy named David who looks like his daddy.

David is four. Dorothy says Floyd's sister, Charlotte (Walters) Erickson, B.F.A. '46, has a little boy, Thomas Franklin Erickson, Jr.

"Kit (Frazer) Martens wrote Dorothy telling her about her daughters, Mary Jane, 6, and Cathy, 2. They are living in Elmore, Ala., and have a lovely new white brick ranch house."

1945

Sympathy is extended to Virginia (Foster) Thurston in the death of her mother, who died of a heart attack the day after Virginia's wedding.

Sympathy is extended to Eleanor (Hoyt) Dabney in the death of her father, William Russell Hoyt, Jr., of Atlanta on June 22.

Rose (Macaulay) Maxwell has moved from New York to Montgomery, Ala. Her address is 1608 S. Court Street.

Lou (Matteson) Jones has a baby daughter who has been named Rebecca Joy.

Martha (Rumble) Pirkle's son, Quentin, Jr., was born on June 25 in Columbia, S. C., where her husband, Dr. Quentin R. Pirkle, a surgical fellow with the Veterans Administration, is on duty at the Veterans Hospital.

Mary Esther (Taylor) Faulk has a baby son born October 9 and named Donald, Jr.

Jane Wallace spent her summer in school, first at Emory University, then in the workshop school in Hazlehurst, getting through just in time to be an attendant in the wedding of Betty Walker, '52, before returning to Thomaston to teach.

Peggy (Worley) Studwell has two children, Cherie, 2, and a baby son, Thomas Worley Studwell, who was born August 12.

Miriam (Angell) Macomber writes from her home in Nebraska: "Lincoln is so far from the good Old South that I don't hear too much news, but here is what I have heard of my group: "Fran (Callaway) McCommon had a grand vacation at Daytona Beach; Betty Jane (Ray) Finley and her husband are living in Pensacola, Fla., where he is a flight instructor; Betty Jane Wheeler attended the summer session of the University of Georgia, she saw Barbara Binns there; Edna Roach and Maggie Anderson were at Wesleyan commencement, Edna is still with the F. B. I. and Maggie is buying for her father's store."

Beverly Daniel is now assistant superintendent of the Arkansas Training School for Girls in Alexander, Ark. She writes: "I like my new work very much, program planning for delinquents. This summer I wrote to all the girls in my group. Betty Henderson is teaching the first grade in Panama City; Nina Bishop and Shirley Scott, '48, are both at the University of Florida working toward their Master's degrees in sociology; 'Sep' Porcher is still with the American Telephone and Telegraph in Atlanta."

Annabelle Jarratt is writing copy for Radio Station WIBB in Macon and also has charge of a children's program there. She taught high school English in her home town, Adairsville, last year, and during the past summer was at Rabbit Run Theatre near Madson, Ohio, playing many of the leads in their productions.

Mary Alice McDougall is studying ceramics at the High Museum Art School.

Frances (Oehmig) Collins has a son, Preston M. Collins, Jr., born March 19 in Griffin, Ga.

Jo (Patterson) Andrews (see "Weddings") and her husband will tour with the Barter Theatre players this season in "The Imaginary Invalid." Before their marriage both of them played in the Barter Theatre production of Hamlet at the International Dramatic Festival in Denmark. Mitzi Hyman was also in the production.

Writing of her experience abroad, Jo says:

We left the States the last of May and flew over in an Army C-54, really a "plush job." We had a beautiful trip, with dinner in Newfoundland, breakfast in England, and lunch in Denmark. In Denmark, which is one of the prettiest, nicest, cleanest countries I've ever seen, we spent a month. While there we lived in the "best" hotel in Denmark, the Marienlyst, and had lovely rooms, each with a balcony overlooking the Orisund with Sweden visible from the other side. Mitzi and I quickly got bicycles, which everyone rides there, and toured the quaint old town. In Elsinore we visited all the sights possible, the Carmelite Monastery, the last of its kind in existence today; Kronberg Castle, where we played; the pastry shops; antique shops; an old windmill; a Roman Catholic Church, dating back to the 14th Century; and many other places.

We played in the courtyard of Kronberg Castle, open-air, with a very simple, effective setting composed of steps and platforms. Nat Karson, who designed the set and lights, used lighting effects to supplement the set. We had the largest crowds they have ever had at the Hamlet Festival and were well received.

While in Denmark we made several trips to Copenhagen, to the Royal Theatre, to see the ballet, to the Hotel D'angleterse for some of their open face sandwiches, to the Bing and Grondahl shops to see the Royal Copenhagen china, and to the castles, churches, and lovely old buildings through the town.

Everywhere we went we were presented with flowers, one of the nicest customs in Denmark. The lilac trees were in full bloom when we arrived so we enjoyed the luxury of lilacs, roses, daisies, and many other flowers in our rooms every day.

When we left Denmark, very sadly to be sure, we flew to Weisbaden, Germany, where we saw several operas and plays, among them Hamlet by the Gate Theatre of London.

Germany has lovely countryside and we visited so many places there I can only name some of them—Bad Neuheim, Erding, Berchtesgaden, Munich and Heidleberg. While in Bavaria we went down to Salzburg, Austria, my favorite town. We also managed a trip down the Rhine River, visits to Mad King Ludwig's Castle, Hitler's Eagles Nest, Hitler's home, several old monasteries, Kronborg Castle, and some beautiful theatres.

Sometimes we hear it said that a girl who goes to a college for women does not have opportunity to associate normally with men, and her chances of matrimony are slim. Of last year's class of 97 graduates: seven were men who received the B.M. or B.F.A. degrees; eight of the rest were already married as students. Of the 82 remaining, 20 are married or will be before this month is out. That leaves only 62 potential "old maids," and from rumors we hear—

Wayne Aiken—See "Weddings" (August magazine). Now Mrs. C. A. Burdell, living in Atlanta.
